

Every line adds up.

One system for everything that moves through your business — stock, orders, pricing and people. No more reconciling five spreadsheets before you trust a single number.

One source of truth

Stock, pricing and orders live in a single system, so every team is working from the same numbers.

Built for trade

Designed around how wholesalers and distributors actually operate — not adapted from generic accounting software.

Fast to learn

A clear, modern interface your team can use from day one, without weeks of retraining.
